

Fairy Tale Retellings

A Blade So Black

by L.L. McKinney

The Nightmares almost killed Alice at first, but she learned how to battle monstrous creatures with magic weapons and fighting skills. Now she must travel farther into Wonderland, the dark dream realm, to save her mentor from death.

Blanca & Roja

by Anna-Marie McLemore

The del Cisne sisters aren't just rivals because they are opposites. Because of a generations-old spell, their family is bound to a bevy of swans deep in the woods. Their fate is a dangerous game that will trap one of them in the body of a swan and leave the other a girl.

Sherwood

by Meagan Spooner

The death of Robin leaves the townspeople in danger of further persecution by the Sheriff, whose right-hand man wants to step into Robin's shoes as Lord of Locksley and Marian's fiancé. But Maid Marian is ready to become protector and hero, even though she never intended to be.

Spin the Dawn

by Elizabeth Lim

When a royal messenger summons Maia's ailing father to court, she poses as a boy and takes his place as a renowned tailor. She knows she will die if her secret is discovered, but she'll take that risk to achieve her dream and save her family from ruin.

continued on back

Stepsister

by Jennifer Donnelly

The prince turns Isabelle away in shame when he discovers that she has cut off her toes to fit into Cinderella's shoe. Now she has a chance to alter her destiny and prove what ugly stepsisters have always known: it takes more than heartache to break a girl.

A Thousand Beginnings and Endings

by Ellen Oh

Fifteen bestselling authors use contemporary tales, fantasy, and science fiction to re-imagine the folklore and mythology of East and South Asia in short stories that are by turns enchanting, heartbreaking, romantic, and passionate.

A Curse So Dark and Lonely

by Brigid Kemmerer

Before he turned into a vicious destructive beast, Prince Rhen thought he would be saved by love. Despite tremendous grief and a brother who constantly underestimates her because of her cerebral palsy, Harper is tough. When she tries to save a stranger on the streets of Washington D.C., she is pulled into a magical world.

Thorn

by Intisar Khanani

Princess Alyrra is betrayed on her journey to marry a foreign prince when a terrifying sorceress switches her identity with a civilian's. Free from the court and her cruel family, she welcomes her new life as a goose girl until the vast suffering she sees moves her to rethink everything.

Forest of a Thousand Lanterns

by Julie C. Dao

Growing up as a peasant in a forgotten village on the edge of the map, Xifeng longs to fulfill the destiny promised to her by her cruel aunt, the witch Guma, who has read the cards and seen glimmers of the beautiful young woman's majestic future. But is the price of the throne too high?

The Princess and the Fangirl

by Ashley Poston

Their first case of mistaken identity doesn't go well, but Imogen and Jess keep up the ruse to save a leaked Starfield script. Romances develop as they are in each other's shoes, and Imogen experiences the dark side of fandom that can plague actresses like Jess.